Huntingdon News

On Friday, Sept. 24th, a farewell luncheon to Mr. A. Aikman, who is a much respected resident of Huntingdon, was held in the Huntingdon Hotel, proving a great success. It was easily seen that Mr. Paddy Brennan, the general printer, showed on look of spirit as the great display which he put before the guests. The dining room was nicely decorated with evergreens, etc., in view the season Mr. Aikman for the last ten years has been a resident of Huntingdon and for several years has held the office of local justice for the court and during his tenure here was numerous friends on both sides of the line. On the whole of his life, Mr. Aikman certainly showed great sympathy as the manner in which they showed out for which we must warmly congratulate them.

Mr. Taylor, Justice of the Peace for Canada, presided over the luncheon and gave a splendid address. Mr. Forrest also was present. Mr. Gordon of the American Customs, acted as vice-chairman. The great excitement in view there is respect to long look in a and reported morning. There was a large number of guests who were in the room.

Mr. J. McManis, appeared to great advantage. Young was drunk on the boat, and the old man "For Eke's Jolly Good Night" and "Good Night" were heard. There were three cheers for Mr. Aikman and the evening closed with God Save the King.

Mr. Aikman will have shortly for New Westminster, where he

N. & V. 8 camp where he had been for 3 months of days. He could not give a satisfactory reason why he was attacked. He was sentenced to the workhouse for 14 days.

Constantine Black took both parties to New Westminster on Wednesday at this work.

The ice is forming on the river in the north, yet the people of that part of the world are able to walk around in their shirt sleeves.

Passed Away

On September 26th, Edith, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnson, died after a short illness. The dear little girl had been sick only a very short time and she was at first advised by her mother to take a little rest. She was then taken to the hospital where she passed away quietly. She was only 10 years and four months old.

The funeral took place on Sunday last at the Asbottsford cemetery, many friends and neighbors being present. The service was conducted by Rev. A. D. Taylor, assisted by Rev. L. C. Campbell.

The bereaved parents and family have the sympathy of all in their time of sorrow and bereavement.

Farewell Reception

The Ladies Auxiliary recently formed to look after the affairs of St. Matthews' church did themselves proud on Monday evening when they entertained Rev. A. B. Davies at a farewell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd. Mr. Davies was about to leave Asbottsford for Kamloops and the members of St. Matthews' church were assembled to show their appreciation of his services and acquaintance during his residence in Asbottsford. In the absence of Mr. Boyd, who was necessarily away, Mr. Davies was accompanied by Mr. Boyd, who was necessarily away, Mr. Davies was accompanied by Mr. Boyd, who was necessarily away.

The ladies of the auxiliary had a very successful evening, and the ladies of the auxiliary had a very successful evening, and the ladies of the auxiliary had a very successful evening.

The Apple Show

The small boy with the counting dexter to eat all the apples in sight will have his work cut out for him at the Canadian National Exhibition. It is estimated that the apple show will be a very successful one.

The show will be a very successful one, and the show will be a very successful one.

FOOTBALL RULES OUTLINED

The football world is now in a quandary and for weeks the question of the rules and minds of the followers of the greatest of all sports games will be "What will be the effect of the change in rules which was announced recently?"

The seven main changes can be briefly summarized as follows:

The abolition of the flying tackle which was a very dangerous and pushing and pulling the men with the ball and the longitudinal lines on the field; the division of the line into four fifteen-minute periods; the limitation of the forward pass to twenty yards; giving the two sides half-way in a twenty-yard zone in getting under punts; allowing players taken from the game for slight injuries to return to the game.

Ceases generally are supposed to be liberal. Some are of the opinion the game will be benefited. Other have some of the changes, but refuse to condemn the new rules until they have been given a trial.

The old grand-warriors of the system of several years ago look upon the game as a mere breeze between Canadian rugby, cricket and football. To the old it appears some element of the old game has been destroyed.

Fruit Report

Higgins, Sask. Sept. 24, 1910
W. R. Scott, Esq.,
Deputy Minister of Agriculture
Victoria, B. C.

Dear Sir:

I have the honor to report as follows:

To Ontario: Pears are practically over and pines are nearly so, crabs are scarce and in great demand at high prices. Just here I may say pears are discouraging the shipping of crabs in other than the regular apple box or the half apple box is grown and shipped here when quality and shipping do not state the date or kind of box giving cause for dissatisfaction among jobbers and retailers by the use of various sizes. I certainly think it advisable for shippers to use a uniform box, leaving no cause for complaint and misadventure, or giving dissatisfaction among buyers by using different sizes of boxes as they are doing at the present time. Pears are in great demand and prices are high, 40¢ per old cod quality and peck are in low demand and fairly high prices, and although some quantities from American peaches are low, good stock is feeling reasonably high prices here. Apples in New York state are reported as being bought at $1.00 per bbl with the expectation that prices will advance in the near future. Prices for Ontario apples as the season advances are rising with a very short crop of poor quality. Reports coming to hand from various sources state the East must draw largely on the West for their supply of apples this season, and for these and other reasons I would advise B. C. shippers to hold firm to present prices being asked for good stock, and, at the same time, maintain the present high standard of fruit being sold and put into these markets at present time.

J. C. METCALFE,

There are more people looking for real estate with a view to settling permanently in Mission than most people know about this district. The better they like it.

A girl with real life generally finds love rather eager to accept them.

By-laws may come and by-laws may go.

But some may run at large forever and ever.

Mr. William Japet left on Wednesday morning to visit the New Westminster exhibition. He says his expectations "are to return home."

The sympathy of the staff is extended to Mr. Japet.

By the time the readers of this paper have perused its pages the editor accompanied by his able assistant will be enjoying the fair at New Westminster. They may tell next week how the Missionaries looked Vancouver and the rest of the world at Mission as that district is certain to come.

Beginning with Tuesday of the week another has been added to the staff at Mission Junction office of the C. P. R. The operating part of the business is now looked after by three, who work eight hours each. Mr. Chandler begins at 8 a.m., Mr. Spencer the new operator at 4 p.m., and Mr. Brooks at 12 midnight. It is announced that the season does not open here until October 1st, the date is set by law for this date is the closest districts of Richmond, Dewdney, Delta, Chilliwack and the mainland section of Coquitla. At the present time only game in season are duck and deer.

THE NEW LIQUOR ACT

As an illustration of the effective operation of the new Provincial license law is quite another direction than that which previously obtained public attention, it is officially reported that every hotel in Yair is now being remodelled and improved in order that the license may not be bought into jeopardy in consequence of the premises falling below up to the standard demanded in the matter of accommodation. It is conservatively estimated that throughout the province at least thirty hotels are at present in process of improvement in consequence of the increased demands upon licensees for the interests of the general travelling public.

THE MARKET.

New Westminster, Oct. 1.—The market for district fairs this week showed an effect on the city market, this morning, the farmers having fewer in number, their time having been taken up to much with their fair exhibits to allow them to attend. The fact that the exhibition will be held in the city next week also had its effect many of the farmers holding their produce back in anticipation of a larger market and consequent better prices next week. The main result was that the quality of produce offered was less than usual although trading was brisk. The meat market was rather more than a good average although in comparison with recent weeks a little slack. There was com-very little meat offering at whole sale, the stock raisers holding their animals back in anticipation of better prices later. Yield was rather more plentiful than last week and sold from 10 to 11 cents according to size. There was a fair supply of autumn on hand and plenty of pork.

The poultry market showed the heavy supply of birds for this time of the year. Although the demand for chickens was strong yet the supply was more than sufficient to cover all requirements and prices accordingly ran low or less than last week. The majority of the birds offered were spring chickens for which $7 a dozen was being asked and $6 received. Broilers sold from $1.50 to $2.50.

Pork was represented almost entirely by apples. The supply was not large and all offered were readily disposed of. Purses, many of which have been offered lately, were not entirely absent. A few deer heads a pound A. quantity of hanterskins related at three the pair or more.
Potatoes were plentiful and in

Tomatoes sold wholesale at 25 cents for $1.00, and best picked potatoes at $1.25 a sack; honey in comb sold at 25c box.
